No-Knead Bread

Breads | Oven

Before you start

Plan about 12 hours ahead, then allow about 1 hour for the shaped loaf to rise. Bake at 450°F in a covered Dutch oven: 30 minutes covered, then 15 minutes uncovered.

Ingredients

Matching letters and colors = one prep bowl. Charcoal = keep separate.

Bowl A - Flour, yeast, and salt

- [ ] 400 g flour (about 3 1/4 cups), plus extra for dusting [Bowl A]
- [ ] 1/4 tsp yeast [Bowl A]
- [ ] 1 heaping tsp salt [Bowl A]
- [ ] 320 ml lukewarm water

1. Prepare and cook

1. Stir together 400 g flour (about 3 1/4 cups), 1/4 tsp yeast, and 1 heaping tsp salt in a large bowl.

2. Add 320 ml lukewarm water.

3. Use a fork to combine the ingredients. We want to have pretty much all the dry flour incorporated into the wet dough, but you don't need to stir it past that point.

4. Cover and let it sit for about 12 hours. (Anything from 8 to 15 hours is probably fine.)

5. Wet your hands and scoop out the dough. Fold it a few times and shape it into a ball.

6. Drop it onto some parchment paper and sprinkle some flour on top.

7. Cover it with a cloth and let it rise for an hour or so.

8. Put the covered oven-safe pot in the oven and preheat to 450°F.

9. Open the oven and take off the lid of the pot. Grab the sides of the parchment paper and lift the dough. Lower it into the pot, close the lid, and close the oven.

10. Bake for 30 minutes. Then remove the lid.

11. Bake for another 15 minutes.

12. Remove from the oven and let it cool completely before eating.

Notes

If you like warm bread (who doesn't?), warm it up later, but definitely let it cool first unless you prefer doughy, gummy bread.)

Dip it in olive oil with some salt and pepper and a little balsamic.

Make a bunch of batches at once and fill plastic bags of just the dry ingredients.

Rather than clean the bowl after you scoop out the dough, leave some extra dough in there and leave it in the fridge to use for tomorrow's loaf and get some sour dough flavor.
